DETAILED ACTION

This is a second office action for serial number 09/904124, entitled Pass-Through Fire Stop Device, filed on July 12, 2001.

Response to Amendment

In response to the examiner's office action dated September 9, 2002, the applicant has amended claim 1. The indicated allowability of claim 2 is withdrawn in view of the newly discovered reference(s) to Rodriguez. Rejections based on the newly cited reference(s) follow.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negatived by the manner in which the invention was made.

Claims 1-18 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Munzenberger et al., US patent # 6,161,393 in view of Rodriguez, US Patent 5,588,267.

Munzenberger discloses the claimed invention including a firestop device (figure 2) comprising a housing (7), firestop material (11) arranged within the housing; the housing comprising a base portion (3) and a riser portion (7), the base portion including a recess (where 11 points to); the base portion includes a sidewall portion (where 3 points to) extending from a first open end (10) towards the riser portion (7), and a shoulder portion (2) extending inwardly from the sidewall portion to the riser portion (7); the sidewall (3) and shoulder (2) portions include inner surfaces having a rib (15); the housing has a first and second opposed open ends (10 and the opposite side of 10) and a hollow chamber (where 12 is located) having a longitudinal axis extending from the first open end to the second open end (figure 2); the first open end (10) is provided in the base portion (where 3 points to) and the second open end is provided in the riser portion (7), the firestop material (11) being provided in spaced relation (by 13) along the sidewall portion inner surface from the first open end to the shoulder portion (figure 2); the housing has a two-tiered cylindrical shape (figure 2) the base portion (3) having a larger diameter than the riser portion (7); the base portion further includes a flange (4) adjacent the first open end (10); the riser portion (7) includes a plurality of equally segmented transverse bands (8) each including manually engageable pull tab (where 8 points to); a cap (9) attached to the riser portion (7); the cap contains snap connectors (see attached figure 2) that snap onto the riser portion; a retaining ring (4) arranged within the base portion first open end adjacent the firestop material.

Munzenberger does not disclose the housing including at least one frangible connection defining a removable band. Rodriguez teaches that it is known in the art to provide at least one frangible connection (20) defining a removable band (where 5 points to); and a pull tab (25) providing a grasping means (column 4, lines 28-34). It would have been obvious to one having ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to provide the frangible connection of the housing and the pull tab to grasp the band of Rodriguez with the housing of the firestop device of Munzenberger in order to provide different lengths of the housing for different sized walls (column 1, lines 35-37).

In regards to claims 11 and 14, Munzenberger in view of Zajac discloses the claimed invention as stated above in claim 1, except for the pull tabs includes indicia indicating the length of the device and an extension member. It would have been obvious to one having ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to provide indicia on the pull tabs indicating the length of the device and an extension member since indicia indicating the length of a device (such as used in a ruler) and an extension member which can be attached to extend the housing/riser portion is well known in the art.

Response to Arguments

Applicant's arguments with respect to claims 1-18 have been considered but are moot in view of the new ground(s) of rejection.
